WORST WINTER IN YEARS

Snow, wind and extreme cold caused more colds this winter than in past years. Foley's Honey and Tar proved its worth in thousands of homes. Men, women and children checked colds and coughs and prevented serious consecoughs and prevented serious consequences from exposure. It clears the passages, heals raw, inflamed membranes, banishes irritation and tickling throat. Prayer Meeting Topic of the Young People's Societies, Christian Endeavor, Etc., for Feb. 3: "Christian Endeavo

The art of speaking the word in season and of withholding the word out of season must be learned by all who would win men.

Salvation is for the whole man, and all helpers of men have a part in the soul-saver's work.

Chattanooga Woman's club will hold the regular club meeting Tuesday afternoon at the courthouse.

Mrs. R. J. Miller and Mrs. W. L. Scott will present a musical program deal of shallow and ignorant talk music department under Mrs. D. A. Graves being in charge, diced some minds against the entire subject. This is unfortunate, espe-cially in a Christian. For a Chris-tian's chief business on earth is to continue Christ's mission of saving the lost. The grandeur and divinity of foul-winning is sufficiently vindi-cated by the fact that Jesus came into this world for that very purpose. As all of His splendid life counted in His work as a Savior, so every tal-ent we possess and every ability we may acquire may be employed in the Christlike enterprise of seeking the lost.

> On of the things which we can only dimly understand in this life is the value of a human soul. We look upon the achievements of a Luther, a Gutenberg, a Columbus, a Napoleon, an Edison, and we marvel at the power that resides in a single soul. Its priceless value to mankind we can faintly see, but we cannot possibly understand the worth of a soul from a heavenly standpoint. We come nearest to doing so when we look up the spectacle of the King of glory becoming one of the sons of men and offering this divine body. glory becoming one of the sons of men and offering His divine body upon a shameful cross, all for the sake of lost souls. When we see Jesus thus giving himself for an undeserving race, we realize how worthy of our unremitting and whole-hearted labors is the salvation of our fellowmen. It is supremely an end worth living for.

When the church bells ring at midnight or noon we know that something unusual has occurred. No ordinary event can cause such a demonstration. We ring no church bells, though, when a precious soul passes from darkness into life. Now in heaven this event, which we almost ignore, is considered important enough to warrant a special demonstration of joy. If the angels think the salvation of a soul a reason for celebration should it not mean more of gladness to us also?

Life offers youth many golden op-sortunities, but none else so fair and fruitful as the opportunity to point souls into the largeness and peace of life in Christ. Can a Christian have any supreme ambition but this, to do the will of God in seeking the souls of lost men?

Caring for converts is a part of soul-winning requiring endless tact, pattence, and love. . Power in persuading and persever-ing proceeds from prayer.

We understand Christ best by try-ing to reveal Him to the unsaved. In a great cause great hardships should be endured and great obsta-cles overcome. The difficulties of soul-winning should not deter us.

As the woman sought the lost coin with the aid of a candle, so we are to seek souls by the light of God's word. Apart from an understanding of the Scriptures, it is impossible to find success in seeking souls. The Christian who is ignorant of his Bible is likely also to be ignorant of the joy which belongs to those whom God uses in leading home the lost.

The sheep may wander far, far away, but that makes their need of the shepherd greater. No lost soul can get far enough away from home to warrant us in neglecting it. There is only hope, even for the vorst wanderer.
